Class Description:

This class will be the Algebra I portion of math at TFAI. Math is not usually the favorite subject of many students, but through the right process it can be a highly interesting and useful subject to take! Each week, we will go over an algebra I concept, do some practice problems regarding it, spend time answering any questions the students have, etc.

Suggested practice problems/homework will be given each week and testing days will be provided 2-4 times throughout the semester, although it will be up to each parent to decide whether their student will participate and whether that grade will be used for their own homeschooling setup. However, it is highly encouraged that students participate in testing, even if only for the purpose of experiencing testing and seeing where they are at with comprehension of material.

We will be going through the Bob Jones curriculum, with the suggested practice problems and tests taken from there as well. However, since class time will be primarily used for concepts and specific questions from students. So, if any parent/student is using another curriculum, the class would still be highly beneficial regardless of curriculum.

As always, feel free to text/call/email with any questions, comments, or concerns.

Nonrefundable Materials fee due at registration.
